Owls survive better in meadows because voles live there and owls eat voles.

Trevor

Four Corners

1. What would you say to each of these kids about their claims and evidence?
2. Do you agree with what they wrote? Why?
3. What question would you ask each student about their answer? Why?
4. Prepare to share with the whole group. Choose two reporters to report out.
5. Listen carefully to the other groups write down any questions you might have for them.
6. Ask questions of other groups.
7. After hearing report backs would you like to move to a new group? Why?

Owls live in many habitats. They live in trees and hunt small animals. I know because I saw a video.

Sam

Four Corners

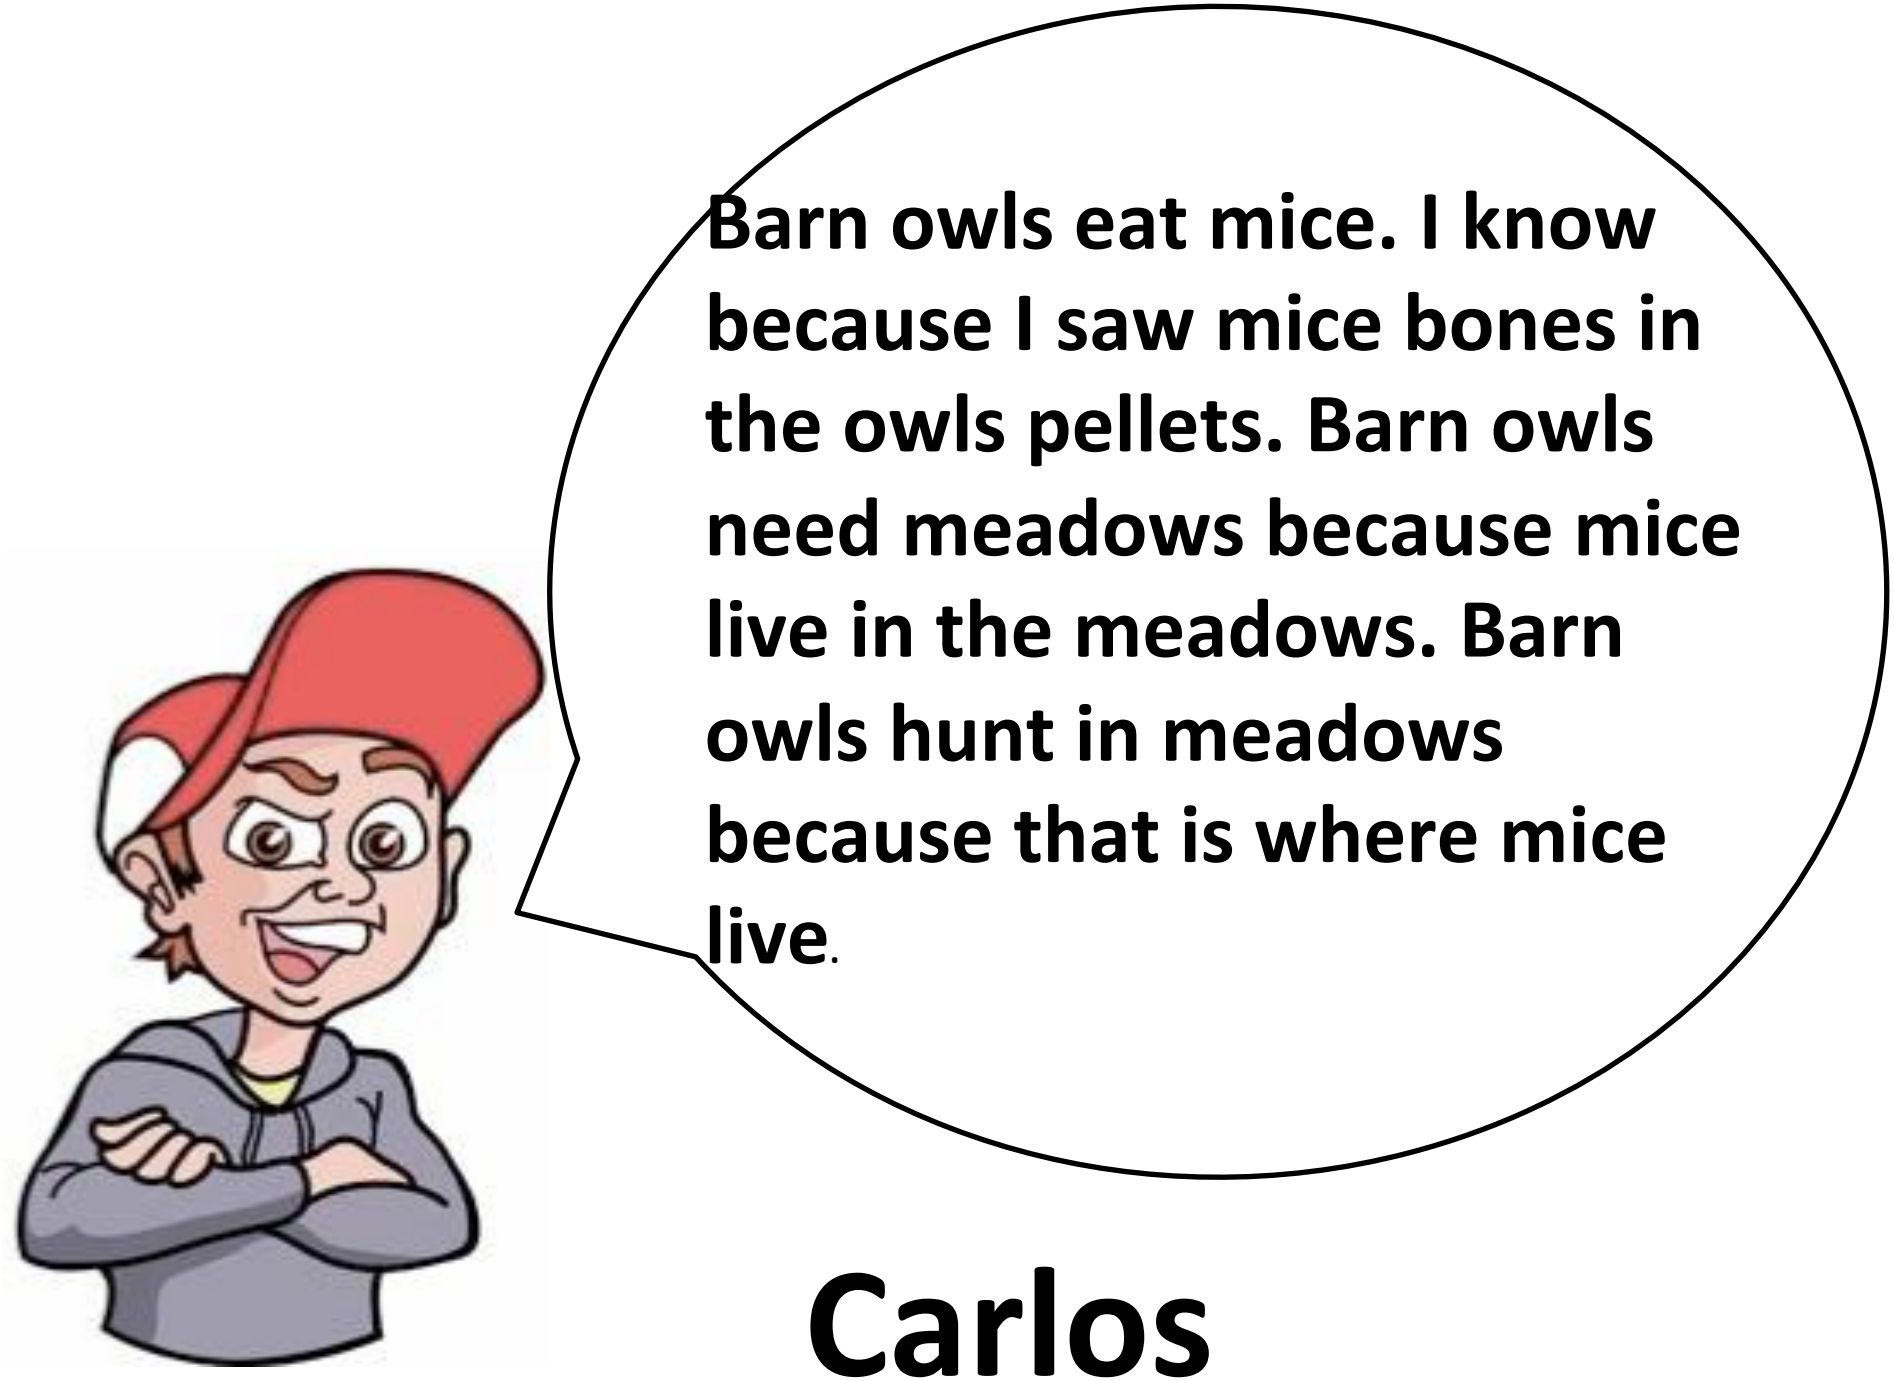
1. What would you say to each of these kids about their claims and evidence?
2. Do you agree with what they wrote? Why?
3. What question would you ask each student about their answer? Why?
4. Prepare to share with the whole group. Choose two reporters to report out.
5. Listen carefully to the other groups write down any questions you might have for them.
6. Ask questions of other groups.
7. After hearing report backs would you like to move to a new group? Why?

Barn owls live where they can find food. There are a lot of field mice in grassy fields because they eat it.

Lisa

Four Corners

1. What would you say to each of these kids about their claims and evidence?
2. Do you agree with what they wrote? Why?
3. What question would you ask each student about their answer? Why?
4. Prepare to share with the whole group. Choose two reporters to report out.
5. Listen carefully to the other groups write down any questions you might have for them.
6. Ask questions of other groups.
7. After hearing report backs would you like to move to a new group? Why?



Barn owls eat mice. I know because I saw mice bones in the owls pellets. Barn owls need meadows because mice live in the meadows. Barn owls hunt in meadows because that is where mice live.

Carlos

Four Corners

1. What would you say to each of these kids about their claims and evidence?
2. Do you agree with what they wrote? Why?
3. What question would you ask each student about their answer? Why?
4. Prepare to share with the whole group. Choose two reporters to report out.
5. Listen carefully to the other groups write down any questions you might have for them.
6. Ask questions of other groups.
7. After hearing report backs would you like to move to a new group? Why?